‘We have been instructing Drummond Miller as our Edinburgh correspondents for over 20 years. The service has been excellent’

At Drummond Miller, we have one of the largest and most experienced litigation teams in Scotland. Our work is highly regarded by clients and other members of the legal profession. We currently receive instructions from more than 100 other Scottish law firms (or ‘Correspondents’) to represent their clients’ interests in the Court of Session and the Court of Criminal Appeal in Edinburgh. We also accept agency instructions for Sheriff Court cases and are happy to advise on, and act in, appeals to the House of Lords and Privy Council. We advise on all types of civil litigation.

There is great strength and depth of legal expertise within Drummond Miller. The way in which we handle our clients’ business allows us to provide a specialised legal service at a price that is affordable to most individuals, families, and small to medium-sized businesses. Although our solicitors are located in a network of branch offices throughout Central Scotland and Fife, they are organised into firm-wide teams according to their own specialist areas of legal work.

At Drummond Miller, we are proud to have 5 Law Society of Scotland Accredited Specialists who are happy to provide you with guidance and assistance in their areas of expertise: David Wilson and Miranda Becher in Personal Injury Law; Jacqueline Stroud and Fiona Tait in Family Law; and Liesa Spiller in Clinical Negligence. We also have 2 Solicitor Advocates available for instruction – Bobby Frazer in the High Court and Angus McPherson in the Court of Session.

To ensure we continue to offer our clients and Correspondents the highest levels of service and expertise, and to meet all their needs, Drummond Miller will continue to focus on those areas of the law where we have the most experience.
