

drummondmiller LLP

‘I am very pleased with the service and results I got through Drummond Miller. The way they looked after my case was excellent.’

Immigration and Asylum Law is a highly complex and ever changing area. Expert advice is required to ensure that the most appropriate application is made on the client's behalf. Inappropriate contact with the Immigration Authorities can lead to untold damage to a person's application.

The Immigration and Asylum department at Drummond Miller has the necessary expertise and can provide you with clear help and advice to guide you through this potential minefield.

- All types of applications now part of the government's new points based system: Work Permits, Highly Skilled Migrant Programme, Investors, Business / Sole Representatives, Training / Work Experience
- Self employment under the EC Association Agreements
- Applications for Certificates of Sponsorship for Work Permits
- All Immigration applications including: marriage applications, same sex applications and applications under the Civil Partnership Act, applications for family members and dependants, visitors / business visitors, UK ancestry, Long Residence Rules, student visa
- UK Nationality
- Asylum and human rights based matters
- Litigation in immigration and higher courts
- Deportation Appeals (either in country or for entry clearance)
- Applications for Indefinite Leave to Remain

We also have an extensive Court of Session practice. The firm has experience in representing clients in respect of all these issues in the Court of Session at both first instance and appeal level. The firm has been involved in a number of significant cases (along with local agents) challenging some of the measures of the Government in the Immigration and Asylum field.

Drummond Miller has a wealth of experience in Immigration, Asylum, Nationality and Human Rights Law. We have a dedicated team based in both our Edinburgh and Glasgow offices headed by David Brown, Partner in the firm.

We are happy to agree fixed fees by prior arrangement.
